Keeping safe

As the weather improves some of our older children may wish to walk to school on their own and play out during the evenings and weekends. Where I would encourage this independence, please ensure that your children are aware of keeping themselves safe when not under adult supervision. This may include road awareness, cycle safety and stranger danger. It is important that children are aware of what they should do if they ever find themselves in a difficult situation and the protocols that you have set for them. We will of course continue to teach potential dangers and risks that children may face when 'out and about' with friends or on their own.

National survey of children, The Big Ask

The new Children's Commissioner for England, Dame Rachel de Souza, has launched The Big Ask – the largest ever consultation with children aged 4 to 17 in England. It aims to find out children's concerns and aspirations about the future, so that the government can put children at the heart of our country's recovery from the coronavirus (COVID-19) outbreak.

Parents, care leavers and those working with children are also invited to complete the adult survey to share their views about the future for children and young people today, and what they think is holding young people back. The results from this survey will help the Children's Commissioner identify the barriers preventing children from reaching their potential, put forward solutions and set ambitious goals for the country to achieve.

Did you know?

At this time of year more and more birds are finding their way back to Britain after the winter months. Look out for the first swallows, sand martins and house martins to arrive in the village.

House martin

The house martin is a small bird with glossy blue-black upper parts and pure white under parts.

Sand martin

Sand martins are the smallest European hirundines (martins and swallows), with dark brown upper parts and dark under wings contrasting with otherwise pale under parts divided by a distinctive dark chest bar.

Swallow

Swallows are small birds with dark, glossy-blue backs, red throats, pale underparts and long tail streamers.
